A Talent Acquisition with 4 years of experience in IT market. With a strong work ethic, a willingness to learn, and excellent organizational skills, I am actively becoming an expert in the HR industry, particularly in the field of recruiting.
Having successfully recruited for a wide range of roles, from technical positions (software, hardware) to non-technical positions, across various technology companies, including outsourcing and large product firms. This breadth of experience has equipped me with a deep understanding of different talent needs and the ability to adapt my approach to meet various business goals.
